

Staff Giving – Every Penny Counts

John van Geest Cancer Research Centre

About us

Did you know that Nottingham Trent University is home to a world-class cancer research facility? The John van Geest Cancer Research Centre is situated on the Clifton campus near the Lee Westwood Sports Centre.

Our scientists aim to save lives and speed recovery by improving the early diagnosis and treatment of breast and prostate cancer. They work closely with local patient groups and leading clinical staff at local hospitals. You can read more at:

www.ntu.ac.uk/vangeest

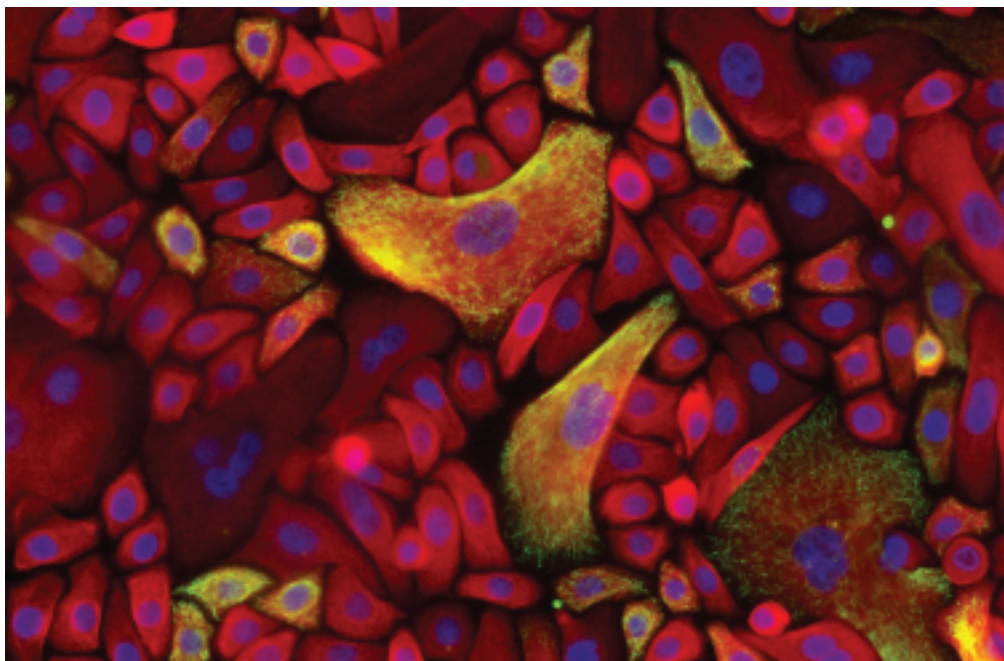

With research suggesting that over 1 in 3 of us are likely to be diagnosed with some form of cancer at some point in our lifetime, this is clearly work which will have an impact on us all.

How can you help?

It's easy. We want your pennies – literally! Through our new scheme Every Penny Counts the lovely staff in our payroll team have the ability to round your pay down to the closest pound and donate those spare pennies to the work of the John van Geest Cancer Research Centre.

For example, if you are paid £1,234.56 per month after tax and deductions, as a member of the scheme our payroll team would deduct 56p from your wages – meaning you are paid £1,234.00 and 56p goes straight to the work of the centre.

Pennies adding up to just £5 over the year can buy a nutrient solution which keeps cancer cells alive for further study.

Pennies adding up to £10 are enough to sequence a gene – enabling the scientists to investigate how genetics affect the development of cancer.

Pounds Count Too

This is certainly true, and this scheme allows you to easily give a few pounds a month extra to this vital work.

You are free to join or leave either scheme at any time, so why not make a difference by filling the attached form out today?
